Your comments:	It was my belief that our rural communities would only have to tolerate heavy vehicle disruption whilst well-sites were being built and commissioned. Yet, now, we are being expected to have 10, 25 or more HGVs travelling along our often poorly maintained roads for the next 25 years, at least. No one, not even Rathlin energy can guarantee the safety of the communities on route. It would only take one major incident to wipe out a whole community. I also believed that if gas, oil or both were discovered, these highly flammable commodities would be piped from drill site to mains outlet safely and with as little disturbance to the countryside and its communities as possible. I don't have enough knowledge to fully understand how hydrocarbons are affecting the atmosphere, adding to the greenhouse effect and causing global warming, but I do know that if all the major countries on the planet are concerned then I should be too So for the above reasons, I object to this planning application.
